SALEM

Charles Moore punched his brother-in-law, Howard Ruben, in the head, cutting a gash, and Mayor Webster fined him $10 and costs.

A civil service examination for rural mail carrier will be held at the local postoffice Sept. 28.

There was a parade last Saturday night to boost the Red Cross festival which was a great success. On Thursday 77 young men entrain in this city for Camp Sherman.

There now seems to be plenty of sugar in the local market. The annual reunion of the Zimmermann family held last Thursday in Centennial park was attended by 60 people. The reunion next year will be held at the home of Charles Zimmermann, near Leetonia. C. W. Zimmermann of Salem was elected president and Miss Lottie Zimmermann of Greenford secretary.

Carl Spencer, one of the men caught robbing a clothing store one night a few weeks ago, escaped last Friday from the Lisbon jail. He and his pal pretended to be fighting and when the guard unlocked the prison door to separate the men Spencer made his get away.

Deane Kinner has resigned as clerk of the local civil service board, same to take effect Sept. 25.

Mrs. Monroe Mercer of this city died last Friday at the home of her sister in Lowellville, aged 57. She is survived by her husband and two children. The remains were brought here and funeral services held Monday.

Dr. Derfus, who recently enlisted, has been called for service and goes to Camp Taylor, Ky., Sept. 12.

A fine concert was given in Centennial park Sunday afternoon by the Quaker City band.

At the meeting of the board of education Monday night 11 teachers were hired and 10 resignations accepted.

Simon Coy of Holden, Mo., died Saturday, aged 74. Deceased was a native of Greenford. He is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter. Funeral services Tuesday were held at the home of Addison Coy on Ohio avenue.

Misses Arlene Dougherty and Ethel and Faye Stewart returned from Pittsburgh Tuesday after spending two weeks with friends and relatives.

BERLIN CENTER

The Berlin Center school will open Monday, Sept. 6, at 9 o'clock, railroad time. It is hoped that every pupil will be present at the opening of school, as the first day is just as important as the last and some injustice is done to all by enrolling late. The teachers have all been selected, are attending the institute in Canfield and are looking forward to a year of pleasant and profitable work. There is so much to learn and do these wonderful days, let all be in place, on time.

C. CASE, Principal.

ADVISES "GOTT" TO CHANGE MESSAGES

A story is going the rounds in army circles here that seems good enough to pass along. There was an Irish soldier, so 'tis said, who for a number of months had proved his Americanism by stating the Huns with hand grenade, pistol and rifle. He asked for and received a furlough, only to find out at the end that he had no money. So he wrote the following letter:

"Dear Lord:—I have been here for ten months, fighting in mud up to my neck. The work is somewhat unpleasant, but you'll be glad to learn that I've killed 63 Germans. Now I'm a bit tired but I have me a furlough all right, and all that I lack is a little money, having spent all me own for prayer books. If ye don't believe me, ask Father Tom McCarthy. So, Lord, in the name of all the saints, I ask ye for the small sum of $100. Sure ye'll never miss it, and if ye send the money I'll never forget ye in me prayers."

"JAMES QUIRK"

It happened that the censor who got hold of this letter was housed in a Young Men's Christian association bungalow. He passed the letter around and as James was popular, it was not long before a fund of $50 had been raised. The money was placed in a Y. M. C. A. envelope and sent to the Irishman without comment. The next day the recipient sent the following acknowledgement:

"Dear Lord:—I've received your $50 as per application for furlough money, and I thank ye. But I make so bold as to give ye a word of warnin'. Send the next money by the Knights of Columbus—ye sent the last by the Young Men's Christian association and they nipped half of it."

"JAMES QUIRK"

MATRIMONY AFTER WAR

Doings of Mars Will Have No Effect on Unscientific Kingdom of Cupid.

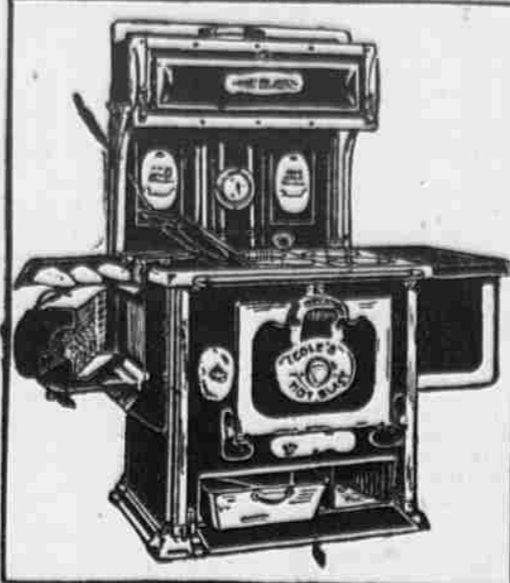

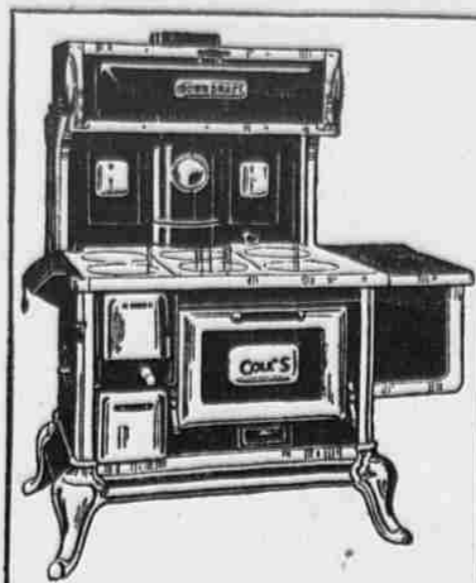

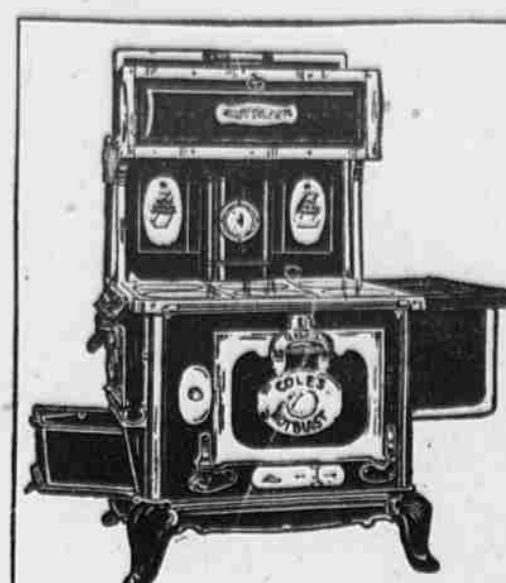

A scientist of great profundity has been at pains to calculate what the percentage of men to women will be in the belligerent countries after the war, and to make certain deductions therefrom as to the future. In England, France and the United States, as well as in hostile countries, the female population will largely exceed the male, with the result that a good many ladies will have no matrimonial partners. But this, while entailing much grief upon the lonely ones, will make for the welfare of the race, says this professor of eugenics, because men will have a wider field of selection and will, therefore, take their pick of the best.

All of which shows that a man may be a fine statistician and have no sense. Men will marry after the war for precisely the same reason which impelled them to marry before the war, which, in most cases, was no reason at all. They will not approach the subject in a scientific state of mind. They will approach it in a fool state of mind as in the past. They will not know how to pick out the best mates, and they wouldn't do so if they knew how. They will keep on falling in love and marrying in the same illogical fashion that has always prevailed. The inferior female need not worry. She will carry off her full share of the masculine spoils. Of the two, the eugenically superior woman is the more apt to get left than her trifling, frivolous, hand-painted sister. For such is man and the son of man, and such are the rules of the unscientific kingdom of Cupid.—Baltimore Sun.

THE SUPREME SACRIFICE

Ours is to sacrifice today
For justice and the truth;
For virtue's everlasting way
Attending age and youth.The individuals right to be
A living entity,
In touch with liberty
That saves humanity.From want and needless suffering,
From sin's destructive power,
From worldly strife destroying life
With ruthless selfishness.From the ruling powers of darkness
That glories in the grave,
Misleading hordes with bloody swords
Piercing the true and brave.Protecting not the innocent
Nor wives and maidens fair;
Nor fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers,
Nor children do they spare.They are the victims of misrule
Attending world fame;
They're not forgot, their blood cries
out
Against this heartless game.As we sow so shall ye reap
The Lord of life did say;
Some day the harvesters will reap
The tares they'll cast away.Ours is to serve and sacrifice
While on this mundane sphere;
With equal grace we now must face
What is and does appear.
—S. J. Bush, Greenford.

THE ONE HUNDRED PER CENT SCHOOL

(Institute Suggestions)

1. Every child who belongs in this school will be present every day and every hour—barring illness. For this school will be so good that children would rather be here than anywhere else.

2. The teacher is doing her utmost to help each child on toward what she hopes he will be at the age of eighteen.

3. The teacher does not mistake talking for teaching but sees to it that each word she utters produces definite, positive results that may be readily appraised.

4. Each subject and each exercise pulsates with human interest for the reason that the teacher is a success as a human being.

5. In this school, the unusual child, whether below normal or above normal, receives special consideration.

6. The teacher uses arithmetic, geography and history as means and not as ends. The goals of her endeavors are spiritual qualities such as initiative, loyalty, imagination, appreciation, reverence, patriotism.

7. This school owns and uses the books of the Pupils' Reading Circle, for the teacher is alive to the importance of inculcating the reading habit.

8. The teacher is a diligent reader of professional books and journals, of literary magazines, and of books in general. She is world-minded and feels that she must read at least one book a week to preserve her mental health.

9. Each exercises is a lesson in real life and not a mere preparation for life. In fact, this school teaches life by the laboratory method, and all its activities flow in the main current of life.

10. The teacher is a dynamic, resourceful, alert, amiable and is richly endowed with imagination, initiative, tact, and a sense of humor.
